Both of the areas opening will be called Star Wars: Galaxy's Edge, with attractions that will immerse visitors in the world of Star Wars like they've never experienced before. At the D23 Expo of 2017, Disney showed off a model of Galaxy's Edge and indicated that actions within the park and during rides will have consequences that make you feel like you're part of the Star Wars universe. You may even get to take on a mission on the Millennium Falcon or come across popular Star Wars characters.

The Themed Hotel

Also opening along with the attractions in Orlando will be a Star Wars themed hotel. The hotel, like the parks, will also be an immersive experience where people walk around the building in character and even dress up in Star Wars garb. Each room at the hotel will even have

According to Walt Disney Parks and Resorts Chairman Bob Chapek, the vision that Disney has for the Star Wars attractions will raise the standard for world immersion. "It's our goal to inspire happiness and create magic for our guests at every age," Chapek said during D23. He indicated that he and the team are looking forward to the 2019 unveiling of the extensive project.
